

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Sunday 16 Sep 2012

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Much of the south and east will start dry and fine, aside from cloudier conditions in the far south. Meanwhile, northern and western parts will be more unsettled, with blustery showers moving in on the brisk breeze, with some turning heavy and perhaps thundery. It should become cloudier for many later, although some sunny intervals remain likely.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:

Northern UK should remain rather windy with scattered showers on both Tuesday and Wednesday, while southern parts should stay brighter and less breezy. Temperatures will be near-average in sunny spells by day, but temperatures should dip under clearer spells overnight.

(C) Crown Copyright 2012. Published by the Met Office.