

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Friday 10 Sep 2010

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:

Rain in the Midlands and southwest England will move slowly eastwards, becoming slow-moving in the far southeast by dusk. Elsewhere will see sunshine and showers, some of these could be heavy with thunder; particularly in northern Scotland. The showers should weaken and become more confined to western parts by the evening period.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:

A mostly dry, warm and sunny day on Sunday, with just a chance of the odd shower. Becoming windy in the north overnight into Monday, with rain in Scotland spreading southwards during the day, but staying mainly dry with bright spells for southern and eastern England.

(C) Crown Copyright 2010. Published by the Met Office.