Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Thursday will have sunny spells and occasional showers. These will be heavy at times in the north and west with a risk of thunder. Sheltered central and eastern parts should only have a few showers. More prolonged rain is likely to spread into the north of Scotland later.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:

Friday will be a cool and breezy day with sunny spells and showers, which could turn wintry over northern hills. Sheltered central and southern parts could stay mainly dry. Rain will spread east across all parts on Saturday, with it becoming windy in the west.
