Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Much of England and Wales will see heavy, thundery showers or more prolonged spells of rain, although there should be drier, brighter intervals too. Scotland, Northern Ireland and northern England should see fewer, lighter showers, with more in the way of sunshine between them. Becoming windy in southern Britain, particularly around southwestern coasts.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:
Sunday mainly dry and bright, with sunny spells for most and just a few showers, these mainly light. Breezy in the east at first, otherwise light winds. On Monday, heavy rain and strong southerly winds spreading from the southwest, but southeastern areas staying dry until late.
