

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Wednesday 29 Aug 2012

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
A chilly start in the north with a local ground frost in rural parts of Scotland. Scattered showers across the UK during the morning will be heavy at times, but becoming drier and brighter from the west through the afternoon with some sunshine. The showers though persisting in the southeast into the evening.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:

Unsettled in the north on Friday with a band of rain pushing through. Further rain in the northwest on Saturday along with strong winds. But generally dry and bright in the south and east with some sunny spells and just a gentle breeze.

(C) Crown Copyright 2012. Published by the Met Office.