Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Thursday will be fine and dry, with sunny spells across the south. It will feel pleasantly warm in the sunshine, with temperatures reaching highs of 20C.
Meanwhile, thicker cloud and more persistent rain will be spreading into northern and western parts of Scotland, which will be heavy at times, particularly over the Highlands.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:
Patchy rain will be moving south on Friday, with some brighter spells at times.
Mostly fine and dry on Saturday, with warm sunny spells in the south, before rain arrives into the northwest later in the day.
