

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Thursday 07 Feb 2008

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
England and eastern parts of Wales will have a mostly fine, dry day with plenty of sunny spells. Elsewhere, including northwest England, will be largely cloudy with some outbreaks of light rain, most especially over western coasts and hills. It will be very windy over northern and western Scotland. Mild.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:
Northwest Britain may see some light rain over the weekend, but otherwise it should be fine and dry with variable cloud and some good sunny spells, probably sunniest in the southeast. Overnight frost and fog patches are likely, especially in central and eastern parts. Temperatures will be just above normal.

(C) Crown Copyright 2008. Published by the Met Office.