

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Thursday 03 May 2007

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
For most, good spells of sunshine are expected after early mist and low cloud clears. However, the low cloud will, once again, be slow to lift from eastern and some northern coastal regions. A brighter day for the Northern Isles, though. Most parts staying dry but isolated afternoon showers developing. Warm in the sunshine but cooler near eastern coasts.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:
Southeast England, staying mainly dry, bright and warm through much of the weekend. However, elsewhere, rather more changeable. Bright and warm on Saturday, even in the northeast, but wet and windy weather edging from the northwest overnight and during Sunday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2007. Published by the Met Office.