

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0700 on Thursday 09 Feb 2017

++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
It will be a cold, frosty and locally icy start to the day with wintry showers continuing in the east, perhaps leading to small accumulations over the hills. In the west, it will be brighter with some sunny but it will continue to be breezy, particularly in the north-west where winds may reach gale force.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:
Friday and Saturday will remain cold with further wintry showers in the east, giving further small accumulations in places. The best of the sunshine will be across the north and west but it will remain cold with widespread overnight frosts and a strengthening breeze.

(C) Crown Copyright 2017. Published by the Met Office.