Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Remaining unsettled, with cloud and spells of occasionally heavy rain over both the far northwest of the UK and parts of the east. It will be brighter elsewhere, with early sunny spells later joined by scattered showers, perhaps heavy and thundery by the afternoon. Further heavy rain should spread into northeastern England and southeastern Scotland later on.

Outlook for Monday and Tuesday:

The new working week should remain generally unsettled, with some sunny spells but also occasionally heavy and perhaps thundery showers. Eastern parts will often be cloudier, with longer spells of rain. Becoming colder with northerly winds, particularly in northern UK.
