Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
There will be contrasting weather across the country on Wednesday. The north will see sunny spells and scattered showers, whilst the south will be cloudy and mild with outbreaks of rain and drizzle. Many will be windy, especially in the north and east of Scotland and northern England.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:
Storm Doris will sweep in from the west on Thursday bringing severe gales and heavy rain, along with some snow over higher ground in Scotland and northern England. This will clear through to bring a drier, brighter and colder day on Friday with further wintry showers in the north.
