Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Much of Scotland and northern England will be fine and dry with some bright or sunny spells after the clearance of overnight mist and fog patches, but northwest Scotland may be cloudy with patchy rain. Elsewhere there will be a lot of cloud and some patchy slight rain at times.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:
Wednesday will start on a cloudy note with patchy rain at times. Heavier rain will reach Northern Ireland by midday and it will then extend east across most parts, clearing southeast England on Thursday afternoon. Bright or sunny spells will follow to most areas.
