Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Showery rain will develop across Northern Ireland during the morning, before spreading into Wales and northwest England later in the day. Elsewhere, there will be sunny periods, especially in the east, but scattered sharp showers will develop in many places.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:

It will be an unsettled and rather cool weekend with sunny spells and heavy showers. These will tend to generally be at their most widespread during the afternoons, when there is a high risk of thunder and torrential downpours in places. The driest and sunniest weather will probably be found around the coasts, although even here some showers are likely.
