Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Most parts of the United Kingdom will have a dry day tomorrow with sunny periods throughout the day. However, there may be some showers near North Sea coasts of England from late morning onwards and occasional light rain will affect north Wales at times. Temperatures will be around average for the time of year.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:

On Friday rain spreads from the west to affect many parts of the UK, becoming heaviest and most persistent in Northern Ireland and high ground in western Scotland, north Wales and northwest England. This rain gradually clears on Saturday with most parts dry by the evening.
