Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:

A cold and frosty start for many. Persistent, locally heavy rain across central and southern England will slowly clear eastward through the day. Elsewhere, many will see sunny spells and scattered showers, though some eastern areas remaining dry. Windy in the south, with gales along the coasts. Feeling chilly.

Outlook for Monday and Tuesday:

Another showery day on Monday for most, but showers easing from the north as the day progresses. It will be mainly dry across southern parts on Tuesday with some sunny spells. Cloud and intermittent rain soon returning to northern areas however. Remaining on the chilly side for the time of year.
