Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Wednesday will be a chilly day across the UK with a significant wind chill. Most places will have a mixture of sunshine and showers, which will be most frequent in the north and west, and will bring some snow to northern hills. Some of the showers will be heavy, with a risk of hail and thunder.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:
Thursday will be off to a frosty start, and it will stay rather cold through the day with blustery conditions and still a few showers around the coasts. Friday will be mainly dry and bright with lighter winds, but rain is likely overnight.
