Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
It'll be a rather misty and murky start across southern Britain, with hill and coastal fog. Brightening up through the day, with warm sunny spells developing. Cloudy with patchy rain across southern Scotland and Northern Ireland. Brighter across northern Scotland. It'll be another muggy night across southern Britain, with low cloud, mist and fog forming once again.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:

After a misty and murky start across southern Britain most areas will see increasing amounts of sunshine. Becoming very warm. Rather cloudy with patchy rain in the northwest. Warm and humid for many on Thursday, but turning wet and windy in the northwest.
