Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
After a chilly start for many, sunny spells will develop across much of the UK with a good deal of dry weather for most. However, showery outbreaks of rain will affect northern parts of Scotland through the day, and it will be rather windy too.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:
Wednesday will be a breezy day for many with a band of rain sweeping south. This will be followed by sunshine and showers, some of which will turn wintry over high ground in Scotland. Scattered showers will continue across northern and central parts on Thursday, but it will be drier and brighter in the south.
