++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
Mostly bright, but rather cold initially today. Wet and windy weather, with some heavy rain, will spread across Scotland and N.Ireland this morning, then Wales and northern and western England this afternoon and the rest of England overnight. Drier, clearer and less windy weather will follow eastwards. Rather cloudy and showery in the north tonight.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:

Southern parts will be mostly dry and sunny but breezy, perhaps with some rain in the far south on Wednesday. The north will be windy and more cloudy with blustery showers. Severe gales and some more persistent rain are likely in the northwest on Tuesday.
