

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Wednesday 14 Mar 2012

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will be another cloudy and dull start with some fog, particularly across southern England. However most places away from the far west of the UK should gradually brighten with some pleasantly warm sunshine developing. It should remain largely dry, although western parts of Scotland and later Northern Ireland are likely to see outbreaks of rain.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:
Outbreaks of rain will spread from the northwest to most parts of Friday, although some central and southeastern parts are likely to stay dry with some sunny spells. Rain will reach the southeast on Saturday, with other areas becoming brighter but with some showers.

(C) Crown Copyright 2012. Published by the Met Office.