

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Saturday 27 Oct 2007

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Rain across much of England and Wales gradually clearing from the northwest.
Much brighter weather with some showers over Scotland and Northern Ireland following. The showers becoming heavy over the north and west. After a mild start over the south it will become cooler and fresher.

Outlook for Monday and Tuesday:

Breezy with sunny spells and occasional showers on Monday. The showers heaviest and most frequent over the North and West will be well scattered over the south and east. Most places dry with some sunshine on Tuesday but cloud will increase over the west with a little rain especially over Western Scotland.

(C) Crown Copyright 2007. Published by the Met Office.