

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Sunday 10 Jun 2012

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Rain will affect many southern, central and eastern parts of England throughout the day, and this will be persistent and heavy in places. Scotland will also see some rain but this should be mainly light and intermittent. There will be scattered, locally heavy showers and bright or sunny intervals elsewhere.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:
Tuesday and Wednesday will be an unsettled couple of days, with bright or sunny spells and showers affecting much of the country. The showers may become heavy and thundery in places, with western and southwestern areas likely to see the most widespread showers. It will feel rather cool throughout.

(C) Crown Copyright 2012. Published by the Met Office.