++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Fine and dry with some warm sunny spells for most, particularly in southern UK after the clearance of any early morning mist patches. Northern UK will also see sunny spells, although it will perhaps become a little cloudier into the afternoon. A few showers are possible over parts of Scotland, where winds will continue to ease.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:

Scotland and Northern Ireland will be windy at times with spells of rain, the rain heaviest in the west, while parts of the east stay drier. England and Wales will be largely fine and increasingly warm, with early mist patches clearing to sunny spells.
