Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:

It will be a cloudy start across the UK with a band of showery rain sat across northern England, Central Scotland and Northern Ireland. To the north and south, there will be some good sunny spells developing into the afternoon, however strong to gale force winds will affect the southwest. It will feel cool for the time of year.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:

Looking ahead, Tuesday and Wednesday will be largely fine and dry with some good sunny spells, however showers are still likely to affect places at times, particularly in northern England. Winds will be lighter and temperatures will increase slightly on today.
