Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
This evening and tonight will be unsettled with showers or longer spells of rain. The rain being heavy and persistent in southwest England and in parts of south and east Wales, but some southeastern parts could stay dry. It will also be windy for a time in the southwest with a risk of gales along the south coast.

Outlook for Monday and Tuesday:
Western parts will have sunny spells but also occasional showers, which could become heavy and thundery at times. Outbreaks of rain across Central and eastern parts will clear way eastwards during the afternoon to be followed by sunshine and showers.
