

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Wednesday 19 Mar 2014

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:

A band of rain, occasionally heavy with gales will move southeastwards across the UK, not reaching the southeast until evening where there could be some hazy sunshine. Brighter, colder conditions with blustery showers will follow, the showers heaviest and most frequent in the north and west, with the risk of hail and thunder.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:

Rain will clear the south on Friday, followed by colder, showery conditions which last into Saturday. Some of the showers heavy, especially in north, with hail and thunder at times, and wintry in places, especially over hills. Windy throughout, with occasional gales in the north.

(C) Crown Copyright 2014. Published by the Met Office.