

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Friday 03 Aug 2012

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will be a day of sunny spells and heavy showers. These will affect many areas at times, with the heaviest showers probably focussed over Wales and western England where there is a risk of thunder. The showers will become isolated around coasts, and across northern Scotland and southeast England where there will be some good sunny periods.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:
Sunshine and heavy showers continuing in many places. The driest and brightest weather will probably be found around the coasts. By Monday, northeast England is likely to see the heaviest of the showers, with some western areas escaping with just isolated showers.

(C) Crown Copyright 2012. Published by the Met Office.