++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will be another mainly dry day with light northwesterly winds and variable, but often large amounts of cloud. Where the cloud does break, this will bring about some bright or sunny intervals. The best of the brightness will be over eastern Scotland, where it will turn mild by the afternoon.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:

It will stay mainly dry with light winds but largely cloudy, with the best of the brightness towards the east of the country. A few spots of light rain are possible at times, mainly in the northwest. Feeling rather cold towards the southwest, with near normal temperatures further north.
