Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Wet and windy across much of Scotland and Northern Ireland, with spells of heavy rain at times. Cloudy and damp too for northern England with some heavy rain in the far north at first, though brightening-up from the south later in the day. After some early drizzle, southern and central Britain will become increasingly sunny and unseasonably warm.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:
Mainly dry, mild and fair on Wednesday, albeit with a fair amount of cloud around. The cloud perhaps giving one or two light showers in places. Rainy in the north and west on Thursday, but fine and warm in the southeast.
