

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Thursday 04 Sep 2008

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Locally very heavy rain across Wales and the southern half of England will spread northwards into northern England, southern Scotland and eastern and southern parts of Northern Ireland. Brighter weather with scattered heavy, slow moving showers will follow into southern and western areas. Northern Scotland and northwestern parts of Northern Ireland will be mainly dry.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:

On Saturday most places will have showers or longer spells of heavy rain, with northeastern England particularly badly affected. However northwestern Scotland will remain mainly dry. It will be locally very windy. Remaining unsettled on Sunday, although western areas will gradually become drier and brighter.

(C) Crown Copyright 2008. Published by the Met Office.