

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0700 on Sunday 04 Dec 2016

++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
After a frosty start, today will be dry, with sunshine for most. It will be windy in the far southwest, and there will be more cloud in parts of eastern England. A cloudless night will follow for many, with widespread frost, and fog patches too. Thick cloud in south-west England and south Wales will curtail frost there.

Outlook for Monday and Tuesday:

After another frosty start, Scotland and northern England will be dry, cold and bright tomorrow. It will be milder, but rather cloudy further south and west. Tuesday will be milder, with rain and strong winds in the north-west. South-east England will stay dry.

(C) Crown Copyright 2016. Published by the Met Office.