

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Saturday 05 Mar 2011

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
A cold start, with frost and a little mist in many areas, perhaps with early light rain in the far southwest of Britain. The majority then seeing a dry day with some sunshine at times; particularly during the afternoon. The far northwest of Scotland will be cloudier however, with a little rain and increasing southwesterly breeze.

Outlook for Monday and Tuesday:
Much of England and Wales staying dry, with overnight frost and perhaps mist giving way to sunny spells. Scotland and Northern Ireland will be cloudier, with a transition from the northwest to wetter, windier weather, with wintry showers in the far northwest late Tuesday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2011. Published by the Met Office.