Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will remain windy, but less so than on Wednesday. There will also be with showers which will be wintry in the north, and these will ease through the day in most places. Cloud and rain, with hill snow over central parts, will then spread into the south by late evening, with gales overnight.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:

Rain, snow and gales from overnight will clear eastwards early on Friday, then mostly dry conditions with clear, sunny spells will follow across the UK. Gales will continue in the north, and some wintry showers are also likely here. Conditions will remain similar on Saturday.
