Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Southeastern parts will have another cloudy and cold day with patchy rain and a noticeable northeasterly wind. Elsewhere, it will be largely dry and bright with some hazy sunshine after a frosty start. There could be the odd wintry shower in the far north.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:

Mostly dry on Wednesday after a cold and frosty start, with bright or sunny spells for most, though the far southeast corner of England may remain under the stubborn cloud. Thursday will be a cloudier day with occasional patchy rain or drizzle, and some more persistent rain into the far northwest later.
