Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will be a largely dry and sunny start across southern areas. Further north, it will be mainly cloudy with rain or drizzle at times. The cloudy conditions will push southwards across the country through the day, with patchy rain for many, although staying largely dry across parts of the south and west. Breezy across the UK.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:
Largely cloudy conditions will dominate with patchy rain or drizzle in places, especially towards the north and west. Despite this, many areas will stay predominantly dry, especially towards the south and east. It will be milder than recent days by day and night.
