++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Staying very wet and windy across northwest Scotland, but rain over Northern Ireland at dawn will largely clear. Elsewhere it will be windy but much drier and brighter, particularly in the east. There will however, be some patchy drizzle in the west.

Outlook for Monday and Tuesday:

Further outbreaks of rain in the northwest on Monday, heavy and persistent over western Scotland. Elsewhere, variable cloud and sunny spells, but still a few drizzly showers in the west. Windy with gales in the north. On Tuesday rain over the northwest gradually moves southwards across the UK, with brighter and chillier conditions following. Winds easing.
