Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will be largely dry and sunny across the UK tomorrow with some patchy cloud across northern England and northeastern Scotland to start with. This cloud will break up allowing temperatures to rise to the high teens or low twenties.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:

Looking ahead to Friday, large areas of sunshine will continue with variable amounts of cloud, however a band of cloud and rain will start to push into Northern Ireland and the far southwest of England. By Saturday, showery outbreaks of rain will stretch across the country, with these heavy and blustery at times, and a cooler feel to the day.
