

World War II Unpublished Issues – July 1940 to July 1945

The publication of Meteorological Magazine was discontinued after the June 1940 issue due to the urgent necessity for economy in consumption of paper during the War. The publication was restarted with the January 1947 issue.

During this temporarily suspended period a short manuscript magazine was circulated about matters of interest arising from time to time. These manuscripts are available in the Met Mag World War Two Unpublished Issues collection and cover the period July 1940 to July 1945.
