

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Thursday 09 Jan 2014

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
After a cold start, with some sunshine, it is going to turn cloudier from the west as some patchy rain gradually spreads eastwards across the UK. The rain is likely to reach northwestern parts during the morning, but not hit the far southeast until the evening.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:

It should be mostly sunny on Saturday although some showers are likely in the northwest. It will turn colder, especially overnight with some frost and patchy fog set to develop. Sunday will start off bright, however a band of rain will spread in from the west.

(C) Crown Copyright 2014. Published by the Met Office.