Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Sunday will generally be a much drier and sunnier day than Saturday across much of the United Kingdom. There will be plenty of sunny spells in many places, and with winds much lighter than the have been on Saturday, it should feel a little warmer. There will be further showers across parts of Scotland and Northern Ireland.

Outlook for Monday and Tuesday:
Monday will start dry, but rain will quickly spread across Northern Ireland, then the central swathe of Britain. It will be a cloudy day generally, even away from the rain. On Tuesday, showery outbreaks will be felt more widely across the United Kingdom.
