Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Outbreaks of rain and drizzle across eastern areas at first will mostly clear through the morning, leaving a generally dry day with sunny spells. However a few sharp showers may develop across southeastern England and eastern Scotland during the afternoon.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:
Saturday starting mostly dry and bright, but some showers developing, particularly across northern and western parts, which may be heavy at times. Cloudier conditions with rain reaching southern England and Wales later, which is likely to linger overnight and clear away eastwards by Sunday afternoon. Otherwise a mixture of sunshine and showers, perhaps locally heavy across Scotland and Northern Ireland.
