Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
There will be bright spells and scattered showers across northern England and Scotland. Further south, rain and strong winds will spread northeastwards through the day, affecting much of southern England and south Wales by evening with a risk of gales near southern coasts.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:

An unsettled period, with rain and hill snow on Thursday clearing away northwards to leave brighter, showery conditions across the south. Friday will see a mixture of bright or sunny spells and scattered showers, some heavy with a risk of thunder. Winds lighter than on Wednesday with temperatures recovering to around average across the south.
