Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Most of England and Scotland will have a bright if cold and locally frosty start to the day. However western areas will be cloudier with frequent showers, these falling as snow to low levels in western Scotland. The showers will be persistent and frequent, and slowly spread into eastern areas later in the afternoon.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:

Windy on Wednesday with more showers in northwestern areas, but now mainly rain. Elsewhere will be bright especially in the south. Thursday will be very windy with severe gales in Scotland. Rain in all parts, heavy in the north, with snow on Scottish hills.
