++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
A band of rain will become slow moving over western parts, although it will turn more showery through the day, with brighter spells developing. Elsewhere, some sun, but the odd sharp shower later too. Tonight showers will die out from most places although rain will return to the far east.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:

Dry and bright at first on Friday in many areas, although some showers will develop during the day, and there will also be some rain in the east at times. Generally becoming dry and bright on Saturday although there will be some outbreaks of light-rain in the southeast of England.
