Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will be a wet and windy morning as a band of rain moves across the UK. There will be some improvement by the afternoon as the rain and cloud clears with some sunshine. However, further outbreaks of rain are expected. Despite the strong winds it will be rather mild.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:
Wednesday will bring more wet and windy weather as a band of rain sinks slowly southeast through the day. Gales are forecast in exposed western areas. Brighter spells and showers will develop across the north later. Further blustery showers, some heavy with hail, are expected on Thursday, turning cooler.
