++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
Today will be much brighter in the north than yesterday with fewer showers. In England and Wales, it will be cloudier, with morning drizzle in the west. Sunny spells and a few showers will develop. Rain in Northern Ireland this evening will spread into northwest England and southwest Scotland during the night but most other places will stay dry.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:

Persistent, locally heavy rain will affect Northern Ireland, northern England and southern Scotland in the morning, easing from the west later. Elsewhere, a dry day is expected with sunny spells. Wednesday will be warmer with sunny spells and a few showers.
