Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Most will enjoy a fine day with some prolonged sunny spells and only scattered showers. After a breezy start, winds will tend to ease through the day but it will remain unseasonably gusty across the Northern Isles with the risk of heavy rain here throughout the day and it will be fresher for all than of late.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:

Whilst southern areas will stay largely fine on Tuesday, it will remain fairly breezy with thicker cloud across northern areas bringing some patchy rain. Through Wednesday, this patchy rain will sink further south but many areas will enjoy further dry conditions.
