

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Tuesday 08 Aug 2017

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will be a wet start across southeastern parts of England and Wales, with further heavy outbreaks of rain. This will gradually move southwards through the day. Meanwhile it will be drier and brighter elsewhere with some spells of sunshine, but it will be windy for making it feel cool.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:

Wednesday rain will continue to affect the far southeast through Thursday, but for the rest of the UK it will remain dry, bright and sunny with lighter winds. But by Friday, further rain and brisk winds will arrive from the west, moving across all areas during the day.

(C) Crown Copyright 2017. Published by the Met Office.