Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Any early mist and fog patches will lift and disperse to leave variable cloud and bright or sunny spells for many on Sunday. Meanwhile, the cloud will be increasing from the southwest, which will bring outbreaks of rain into Cornwall by the end of the day, with freshening winds.

Outlook for Monday and Tuesday:

A rather unsettled start to the week, with wet and windy conditions pushing across the whole of the UK from the southwest on Monday. Rain will be clearing northwards overnight, with a mixture of sunshine and showers following on behind for Tuesday, possibly heavy and thundery at times.
