++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
It will be a cloudy start for many, with brighter spells developing across much of England and Wales. Skies will stay cloudier across the south with outbreaks of rain. There'll be some scattered showers across Scotland and it will turn windy with gales across the far north.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:
Winds will ease in the north on Wednesday. It will be a mostly dry day with sunny spells at first, but skies will cloud over for many through the afternoon with isolated showers where the cloud thickens. Thursday will then be mostly dry across the UK with some bright or sunny spells.
